

Kaplan IT Learning Launches CWNA Practice Exam for Wireless LAN Administration

Atlanta, July 24, 2006 – Transcender has partnered with the Certified Wireless Network Professional (CWNP®) Program to become an authorized third party practice test provider for the CWNA Wireless LAN Administration certification exam for IT professionals. Transcender is a part of Kaplan IT Learning, a leader in certification preparation, skills assessment, learning services and software to help individuals and organizations train on technology and prepare for technology certifications. The in-depth practice exam is now available on Transcender's website at www.transcender.com.

The CWNP Program is considered the industry standard for wireless local area network (LAN) training and certification. IT professionals in 90 countries have achieved CWNP certification in wireless LAN security, effectiveness and reliability. More than 20 industry-leading Wi-Fi companies have become technology partners in the CWNP Program.

"Wireless technology (Wi-Fi) infrastructure is a rapidly growing market that many IT professionals are entering," said Brian Sholly, Vice President and General Manager, Kaplan IT Learning North America. "By offering the CWNA practice exam, we will be aiding these professionals to obtain the necessary skills to meet the corporate demand."

"We're very excited to partner with Transcender to help grow awareness and preparedness for the CWNA certification around the world," said Kevin Sandlin, Co-Founder and CEO of CWNP. "Transcender has a very well known name in the practice test space, and they've taken all the right steps to create a top notch CWNA product."

Transcender's exam simulations mirror the actual exam's objectives through challenging questions, detailed answer explanations and references. The simulations help IT professionals prepare for certification and provide comprehensive training.

Kaplan IT Learning's Transcender certification practice exams, study guides and online learning courses were chosen "Best Exam Preparation Product or Service" by Redmond Magazine readers in 2006 for the second consecutive year. In addition, Transcender won the Windows IT Pro 2005 Readers' Choice Award in the computer-based training category, and was selected as "Best Practice Exam" in 2005 by readers of CertCities.com for the fourth consecutive year.
